large spot houses and exporters have been voraclous buyers at the South of the actual cotton, and latterly of "futures" here. Liverpool, the Continent, Membhis, New Orleans and Waldorf-Astoria operators have bought heavily in the last two days. Spinners have been buying here. A good many hedges for home and foreign account have, it is said, been liquidated in New York. Indeed, some think it was this kind of buying which halted the deciline six weeks ago. In two days prices here have risen at a rate that surprised everybody. The exports have been large. The rush to fill January shipment contracts has been a noticeable feature. Close students of the situation insist that the weight of the crop, large as it was, is now off the market, and that the price is now low, even after this advance, though a good many people do not suspect. They think that the American spinner will take 5,000,000 this season and the European spinner 10,000,000 in one way or another. As to another crop, they think that in all probability the fear of another big yield will cause a vecrease in the acreage, and that, besides, a big acreage in itself does not insure a big crop. The spot sales at Liverpool of late have been 10,000 to 15,000 bales a day. At Manchester yarns are firm and cloths in good demand. In this country there is a sharp demand for white cotton, and it is considered not unlikely that 1,000,000 of the low grades will go into channels of consumption similar to those opened to the poorer solis of cotton in the season of 1904-5. The ravenous demand for the actual cotton at home and abroad is the sheet anchor of the market. MAN SHOT BY REVENUE OFFICER DIES OF WOUNDS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

(Martinsville. Va., February 2.—
George Wagner, a young white man from the "Shooting Creek', section of Franklin county, who was shot near Horsepasture, in this county, on Wednesday afternoon by Deputy Collector Shepperd, of North Carolina, died at the Broad Street Hotel here last night, Shepherd and other revenue officers from this section were out looking for blockaders, when they came upon Wagner and a man named Griffin in the public road with a wagonload of illicit whiskey, which they were probably attempting to carry to North Carolina, Griffin fied, and while Wagner was attempting to get a gun from the wagon Shepherd fired upon him, inflicting a mortal wound. Wagner was brought here and given every attention.

The cremains were shipped to his former home in Franklin county this atternoon.

The coroner's jury was postponed until to-morrow afternoon on account of the absence of Mr. Shepherd.
